Version 1 of the dataset was created between April and October 2016 from completed questionnaires from the survey, which were deposited by the principle investigators in the libraries of the University of Cape Town and the University of KwaZulu-Natal.

Overview

---

ABSTRACT

The Surplus People Project (SPP) was established in 1979 in response to the programme of forced removals of South Africa's National Party government. The SPP undertook research on the programme and its implication for the lives of South Africans. Their research included a household survey carried out in 1980-1981 to collect data on the economic and social effects of removals on its victims. SPP researchers interviewed resettled households and household under threat of resettlement. The findings of these surveys were written up by the SPP in five reports. The Principle Investigators, Laurine Platzky and Cherryl Walker, published a book in 1985, Forced Removals in South Africa. With their permission, DataFirst has digitised the contents of the completed survey questionnaires, which were housed in the Special Collections department of the University of Cape Town library and The Campbell Collections Library at the University of Kwazulu-Natal. The digitised, research-ready dataset is in the public domain, to allow further research using this valuable data.

Questionnaires

Overview

---

The survey used two questionnaires: One for resettled households and another for households under threat of removal. Both questionnaires are provided with the data.

Data Collection

Data Collection Dates

Start	End	Cycle
1980	1981	N/A

Data Collection Mode

Face-to-face [f2f]

Data Collection Notes

The skip patterns in the questionnaires were followed inconsistently by enumerators and respondents, and some respondents completed questions not applicable if skip patterns were followed. The data recorded in spite of skip patterns in the questionnaires is therefore not reliable.

Questionnaires

The survey used two questionnaires: One for resettled households and another for households under threat of removal. Both questionnaires are provided with the data.
