General information

Stats SA publishes approximately 300 different statistical releases each year. It is not economically viable to produce them in more than one of South Africa's 12 official languages. Since the releases are used extensively, not only locally but also by international economic and social-scientific communities, Stats SA releases are published in English only.

Stats SA has copyright on this publication. Users may apply the information as they wish, provided that they acknowledge Stats SA as the source of the basic data wherever they process, apply, utilise, publish or distribute the data; and also that they specify that the relevant application and analysis (where applicable) result from their own processing of the data.

1 General Household Survey 2022

The General Household Survey (GHS) 2022 data are saved in two flat, ASCII, fixed-field files, with one line of given length per record. This format was chosen to make the data usable with as many statistical programs as possible, and thus accessible to a wide range of people.

Users can access, explore and download the microdata in various formats including SAS, SPSS and STATA. Users can also access the metadata from Stats Online at www.statssa.gov.za. Go to the 'Tools' option at the bottom of the screen and click on 'Datasets'.

Other important information for users is found in the:

- Questionnaire
- Relevant publications
- Website (www.statssa.gov.za)

2 Data files

The files and the corresponding sections of the questionnaire are as follows:

Person: Data from prefilled section and person file
House: Data from the household section

The files also contain some derived variables.

The information in each file contains the following:

- Nature of records in the file and population covered
- Description of variables

2.1 Description of variables

The description of the variables comprises the following information:

Descriptive name	This is a short English description plus the variable name in the original file used by Stats SA to construct the ASCII file.
Position of the variable	The position of the data within the record, recorded in the format (@xxx y). '@xxx' indicates that the data begins at position (i.e. column) xxx and 'y' indicates that it is y digits wide. While most of the data variables are numeric, a few are character variables. All data are right justified.
Source	This is the question either in the questionnaire or for derived variables, the method of derivation. Derived variables are usually found towards the end of a file.
Valid range	The range of valid values for the variable. For continuous variables, this reflects the upper and lower limits as found in the data.
Not applicable	The code for 'not applicable' is provided for each variable. These are now numeric.
Missing value	A code for 'missing/unspecified' values is given for each variable.

Notes

Specific observations to be noted by users.

Most questions in the GHS questionnaire are pre-coded, i.e. there are a set number of choices from which one or more must be selected. For open-ended 'write-in' questions, the description will state that post-coding occurred and explain how this was done. Most variables have been pre-coded from the questionnaire and are not repeated in the variable description. Where the coding is not apparent, the description either provides the codes or indicates where code lists are to be found.

2.2 Linking files

The data from different files can be linked on the basis of a record identifier. The record identifier is the first field/s in each file. Each record contains a number (UqNr), which constitutes a unique household identifier. All records with a given unique household identifier, no matter which file they are in, belong to the same household. For individuals, a further two digits constitute the person number (PersonNr). When these are added to the unique household identifier, a unique individual identifier is created. Again, these can be used to link records from the 'Person' and 'House' files.

3 Methodology

3.1 Target population

The target population of the survey consists of all private households in all nine provinces of South Africa and residents in workers' hostels. The survey does not cover other collective living quarters such as students' hostels, old-age homes, hospitals, prisons and military barracks, and is therefore only representative of non-institutionalised and non-military persons or households in South Africa.

3.2 Sample design

The sample design for the GHS 2022 was based on the 2013 master sample (MS). This master sample is shared by the Quarterly Labour Force Survey (QLFS), General Household Survey (GHS), Living Conditions Survey (LCS), Domestic Tourism Survey (DTS) and the Income and Expenditure Survey (IES).

The master sample used a two-stage, stratified design with probability-proportional-to-size (PPS) sampling of primary sampling units (PSUs) from within strata, and systematic sampling of dwelling units (DUs) from the sampled PSUs. A self-weighting design at provincial level was used and MS stratification was divided into two levels. Primary stratification was defined by metropolitan and non-metropolitan geographic area type. During secondary stratification, the Census 2001 data were summarised at PSU level. The following variables were used for secondary stratification: household size, education, occupancy status, gender, industry and income.

Census enumeration areas (EAs) as delineated for Census 2001 formed the basis of the PSUs. The following additional rules were used:

- Where possible, PSU sizes were kept between 100 and 500 DUs;
- EAs with fewer than 25 DUs were excluded;
- EAs with between 26 and 99 DUs were pooled to form larger PSUs and the criterion used was same settlement type;
- Virtual splits were applied to large PSUs: 500 to 999 split into two; 1 000 to 1 499 split into three; and 1 500 plus split into four PSUs; and
- Informal PSUs were segmented.

A randomised-probability-proportional-to-size (RPPS) systematic sample of PSUs was drawn in each stratum, with the measure of size being the number of households in the PSU. Altogether, approximately 3 080 PSUs were selected. In each selected PSU a systematic sample of dwelling units was drawn. The number of DUs selected per PSU varies from PSU to PSU and depends on the Inverse Sampling Ratios (ISR) of each PSU.

3.3 Allocating sample sizes to strata¹

The randomised PPS systematic sampling method is described below. This procedure was applied independently within each design stratum.

Let N be the total number of PSUs in the stratum, and the number of PSUs to be selected from the stratum is denoted by n . Also, let x_i denote the size measure of the PSU i within the stratum, where $i = 1, 2, 3, \dots, N$. Then, the method for selecting the sample of n PSUs with the Randomised PPS systematic sampling method can be described as follows:

Step 1: Randomise the PSUs within the stratum

The list of N PSUs within the stratum can be randomised by generating uniform random between 0 and 1, and then by sorting the N PSUs in ascending or descending order of these random numbers. Once the PSUs have been randomised, we can generate permanent sequence numbers for the PSUs.

Step 2: Define normalised measures of size for the PSUs

We denote by x_i the measure of size (MOS) of PSU i within the design stratum. Then, the measure of size for the stratum is given by $X = \sum_{i=1}^N x_i$. We define the normalised size measure p_i of PSU i as $p_i = x_i / X$; $i = 1, 2, 3, \dots, N$, where N is the total number of PSUs in the design stratum. Then, p_i is the relative size of the PSU i in the stratum, and $\sum_{i=1}^N p_i = 1$ for all strata. It should be noted that the value of $n \times p_i$, which is the selection probability of PSU i must be less than one.

Step 3: Obtain inverse sampling rates (ISRs)

Let R be the stratum inverse sampling rate (ISR). The stratum ISR is the same as the corresponding provincial ISR because of the proportional allocation within the province. It should also be noted that the proportional allocation within the province also results in a self-weighting design.

Then, the PSU inverse sampling rates (ISRs) are obtained as follows:

First, define N real numbers $Z_i = n \times p_i \times R$; $i = 1, 2, 3, \dots, N$. It is easy to verify that $\sum_{i=1}^N Z_i = n \times R$. Next, round the N real numbers Z_i ; $i = 1, 2, 3, \dots, N$ to integer values R_i ; $i = 1, 2, 3, \dots, N$ such that each R_i is as close as possible to the corresponding Z_i value and the R_i values add up to $n \times R$ within the stratum. In other words, the sum of the absolute differences between the R_i and the corresponding Z_i values is minimised subject to the constraint that the R_i values add up to $n \times R$ within the stratum. Drew, Choudhry and Gray (1978) provide a simple algorithm to obtain the integer R_i values as follows:

Let " d " be the difference between the value $n \times R$ and the sum $S = \sum_{i=1}^N [Z_i]$, where $[\cdot]$ is the integer function, then R_i values can be obtained by rounding up the " d " Z_i values with the largest fraction parts, and by rounding down the remaining $(N-d)$ of them. It should be noted that the integer sizes $R_i; i = 1, 2, 3, \dots, N$ are also the PSU inverse sampling rates (ISRs) for systematic sampling of dwelling units.

Step 4: Obtain cumulative ISR values

We denote by $C_i; i = 1, 2, 3, \dots, N$ the cumulative ISRs of the PSUs within the stratum. It should be noted that the PSUs within the stratum have been sorted according to the sequence numbers that were assigned after the randomisation. Then, the cumulative ISRs are defined as follows:

$$C_1 = R_1,$$

$$C_j = C_{(j-1)} + R_j; \quad j = 2, 3, \dots, N.$$

It should be noted that the value C_N will be equal to $n \times R$, which is also the total number of systematic samples of dwelling units that can be selected from the stratum.

Step 5: Generate an integer random number r between 1 and R , and compute n integers as follows:

$$r_1, r_2, \dots, r_n$$

$$r_1 = r$$

$$r_2 = r_1 + R$$

$$r_3 = r_2 + R$$

$$r_i = r_{(i-1)} + R$$

$$r_n = r_{(n-1)} + R.$$

Step 6: Select n PSUs out of the N PSUs in the stratum with the labels (sequence numbers) number i_1, i_2, \dots, i_n such that:

$$C_{i_1-1} < r_1 \leq C_{i_1}$$

$$C_{i_2-1} < r_2 \leq C_{i_2}$$

$$C_{i_n-1} < r_n \leq C_{i_n}.$$

Then, the n PSUs with the labels i_1, i_2, \dots, i_n would get selected with probabilities proportional to size, and the selection probability of the PSU i will be given by R_i / R .

3.4 Weighting²

The sample weights were constructed in order to account for the following: the original selection probabilities (design weights), adjustments for PSUs that were sub-sampled or segmented, excluded population from the sampling frame, non-response, weight trimming, and benchmarking to known population estimates from the Demographic Analysis division within Stats SA.

The sampling weights for the data collected from the sampled households were constructed so that the responses could be properly expanded to represent the entire civilian population of South Africa. The design weights, which are the inverse sampling rate (ISR) for the province, are assigned to each of the households in a province.

Mid-year population estimates produced by the Demographic Analysis Division were used for benchmarking. The final survey weights were constructed using regression estimation to calibrate to national level population estimates cross classified by 5-year age groups, gender and race, and provincial population estimates by broad age groups. The 5-year age groups are: 0–4; 5–9; 10–14; 55–59; 60–64; and 65 and older. The provincial level age groups are 0–14, 15–34, 35–64; and 65 years and older. The calibrated weights were constructed such that all persons in a household would have the same final weight.

The Statistics Canada software StatMx was used for constructing calibration weights. The population controls at national and provincial level were used for the cells defined by cross-classification of Age by Gender by Race. Records for which the age, population group or sex had item non-response could not be weighted and were therefore excluded from the dataset. No additional imputation was done to retain these records.

Household estimates that were developed using the UN headship ratio methodology were used to weight household files. The databases of Census 1996, Census 2001, Community Survey 2007 Census 2011 were used to analyse trends and develop models to predict the number of households for each year. The weighting system was based on tables for the expected distribution of household heads for specific age categories, per population group and province.

3.5 Sampling and the interpretation of the data

Caution must be exercised when interpreting the results of the GHS at low levels of disaggregation. The sample and reporting are based on the provincial boundaries as defined in December/January 2006. These new boundaries resulted in minor changes to the boundaries of some provinces, especially Gauteng, North West, Mpumalanga/Limpopo, Eastern and Western Cape. In previous reports the sample was based on the provincial boundaries as defined in 2001, and there will therefore be slight comparative differences in terms of provincial boundary definitions.

3.6 Coverage

The target population is private households in all nine provinces of South Africa and residents in workers' hostels. The survey does not cover other collective living quarters such as students' hostels, old-age homes, hospitals, prisons and military barracks.

4 Definitions of terms

4.1 Demographics

Term	Definition
Foster care	A system by which a certified adult acts as a stand-in 'parent' and temporarily cares for a minor child or a young person who has been removed from the custody of their birth parent(s) or other custodial adult by the state authority. This is different from adoption in that adoption is the permanent removal of the child, whilst foster care is usually not permanent.
Foster parent	A foster parent is an individual who has foster care of a child by order of a state authority.
Living together as a married couple	Two persons who live together in the same household as a married couple, but who are not married to each other; therefore depicting a cohabiting couple.
Divorced	Where a person's marriage has been legally dissolved and he/she has not remarried.
Married	Having a husband or wife. This can include marriage according to traditional/customary law or a civil/religious marriage.
Partner	One of two people living together as a married couple. Relationship of each to the other in a cohabiting couple.
Separated	Situation where a married couple has parted without divorcing, thus allowing for reuniting if they wish at some time in the future. This is not a legal marital status under South African law, and is therefore self-defined.
Separated, legally	Situation where a married couple have entered a court or written agreement describing the terms under which they will live apart while remaining married. Legal separation can be a possible step towards divorce, but also allows for the couple to reunite if they so wish.
Widow	Woman whose husband has died and who has not married again.
Widowed	Marital status of a person whose spouse has died and who has not married again.

4.2 Education

Term	Definition
Corporal punishment and physical violence	Corporal punishment is the deliberate infliction of pain intended to punish a person or change his/her behaviour. Corporal punishment therefore involves the use of physical violence. The difference between corporal punishment and physical violence within the school context is that: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1) Corporal punishment is applied on the buttocks or hands with a cane or other instrument, while physical violence can be applied anywhere on the body. 2) The child has to know what kind of behaviour will lead to corporal punishment and the reason for punishment is clearly explained to the child before and after its application. Physical violence on the other hand is usually random, uncontrolled, and unpredictable and is usually administered in anger or out of control by the person carrying it out.
Diploma	A diploma is a certificate or deed issued by an educational institution to testify that the recipient has successfully completed a particular course of study. For the purpose of this questionnaire, all references to diplomas and certificates only refer to courses that lasted six months or longer. Any certificates or diplomas related to courses that lasted less than six months should not be included as responses to questions related to the highest level of education or attendance of education institutions.
Early childhood development (ECD)	Early childhood development (ECD) means the process of emotional, cognitive, sensory, spiritual, moral, physical, social and communication development of children from birth to school-going age. In South Africa, this usually refers to the age group 0–4 years, provided that the child does not become 5 before 30 June of that year.
Early childhood development services	Early childhood development services are services aimed at promoting early childhood development. It is provided by a person other than the child's parent or caregiver on a regular basis to children up to school-going age.
Educational institution	Any registered institution whose sole or main purpose is the provision of education, including pre-school, tertiary, adult education, etc.

4.3 Health and general functioning

Term	Definition
Chronic illness	A chronic illness is permanent or lasts at least three months or longer.
Disability	A physical or mental handicap that has lasted for six months or more, or is expected to last at least six months, and which prevents the person from carrying out daily activities independently or from participating fully in educational, economic or social activities. Disability is a lack of ability relative to a personal or group standard. It includes mental disability, physical disability or impairment of the senses (hearing, seeing, walking, smelling, touching). The disability can be the result of a defect at birth, a chronic illness or an accident.

4.4 Social grants

Term	Definition
Care dependency grant	A monthly grant from the government to the parent/guardian/foster parent of a child with a disability and in need of full-time special care. Children aged 0–17 years qualify. Value: R1 980 per month.
Child	A person under the age of 18 years.
Child support grant	Government grant received on behalf of a child of a specific age as determined by legislation, in underprivileged families. Currently given to children (0–17 years old) in underprivileged families. Value: R480 per month.
Disability grant	Government grant received by adults who are certified to have a mental or physical disability, which lasts six months or longer and renders them unfit to work. Age cut-offs are for men and women 18–59 years old. To qualify for this grant, a person must submit a medical or assessment report confirming disability. Note that even people with diseases such as AIDS, cancer, etc. who have been proven through a medical assessment as being unable to work for a certain period, qualify for a disability grant. Value: R1 980 per month.
Foster child grant	A foster child is a child who has been placed in the custody of foster parents as a result of being: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • orphaned • abandoned • at risk • abused • neglected The grant is given to someone who cares for a child who is not their own by birth. To become a legal foster parent, one can apply at a Children's Court. The application is done through a social worker from the Department of Social Development or a Child Welfare Society. Grant payments stop when the child reaches 18 years. If the child continues to stay with the foster parent and is, for example, studying, the grant can be paid out until the age of 21 years. Value: R1 070 per month.
Grant	A grant is financial assistance provided by the government or institution authorised to do so, a public fund or private institution to a person or organisation for a specific purpose. The money does not need to be paid back.
Grant in aid	An additional grant awarded to persons who are in receipt of an old-age grant, disability grant or war veteran's grant, and who need full-time care from someone else. A grant in aid cannot stand alone. Value: R460 per month.
Old-age grant	Financial assistance provided by the government to elderly people who comply with the means test. Currently a grant of R1 980 is paid to men and women aged 60–74 years, while R2 000 is paid to men and women aged 75 years and older. These are revised at the end of each tax year and are therefore not fixed.

Special COVID-19 social relief of distress grant	A grant paid to individuals who were unemployed and did not receive any other form of social grant or UIF payment during the COVID-19 pandemic. Value: R350 per month.

4.5 Housing

Term	Definition
Apartment building or block of flats	A structure, usually multi-storey, consisting of a number of dwellings sharing the same residential address and usually sharing a common entrance, foyer or staircase.
Apartment or flat	An apartment building is made up of several apartments or flats. There are usually several on each floor and they share at least one wall with an adjoining unit. It is usually not situated in a complex.
Cluster house	A cluster house is a freestanding property with no dwelling walls shared. They are in a complex with a common boundary wall, may or may not have security, and may or may not be on shared property.
Dwelling unit	A dwelling unit is any structure or part of a structure or group of structures occupied, or intended for occupation, by one household. Examples of each are a house, a flat, and a group of dwellings. (An arrangement where a group of structures, huts or rondavels make up a dwelling unit is common in some rural areas.) A structure that is vacant and/or under construction, but which can be lived in at the time of the survey, counts as a dwelling unit.
Formal dwelling	A structure built according to approved building plans, i.e. house on a separate stand, flat or apartment, townhouse, room in backyard, rooms or flatlet elsewhere.
Informal dwelling	A makeshift structure not erected according to approved architectural plans, for example shacks or shanties in informal settlements, serviced stands or proclaimed townships. They can also be in the backyards of other dwelling types. Informal dwellings are also referred to as a shack or shanty.
Mains	This refers to general-purpose alternating current (AC) electrical power supply. The term 'mains' usually refers to the general-purpose AC electrical power supply that is supplied in South Africa by Eskom or a municipality. It does not include connections to a generator or solar panels and other alternative energy sources. In Section 3 of the questionnaire there are some questions related to the dwelling. Please note that these questions refer to the structure occupied by the household.
RDP	The Reconstruction and Development Programme (RDP) was designed to improve the standard of living for the majority of the population by providing low-cost housing, basic services, education, and health care. After the RDP Department was disbanded, the primary responsibility for its execution was shifted to each of the sectoral departments dealing with its subcomponents. In the case of housing, the Department of Housing became the only government institution responsible for addressing the housing-related outcomes of the RDP. All low-income housing that was constructed since 1994 by the government was referred to as RDP houses. In 2004, the Minister of Housing presented a comprehensive new plan for the development of sustainable human settlements called the 'Breaking New Ground' or 'BNG' plan. This plan included the provision of housing to low-income households (previously known as the RDP house), as well as the expansion and simplification of housing subsidy provision and increased involvement of the private sector in financing housing, amongst other things. New houses that were constructed after 2004 were done within the framework of the BNG policy and are technically no longer referred to as RDP houses, but low-cost houses instead.
RDP house	A house that was constructed for low-income households through the Reconstruction and Development Programme.
Remittances	Remittances refer to money sent to the households or given to the households by someone who lives outside the household, according to Stats SA's definition of a household.

Term	Definition
Semi-detached houses	Share a dwelling wall with at least one of its neighbours. Semi-detached houses are not in a (security) complex. Semi-detached houses do not have communal property (such as parking, pool, etc.). Typically, semi-detached houses are found in older suburbs, having been built before the 1970s.
Townhouses	Share a dwelling wall with at least one neighbour. They are in a complex (with or without security). There are usually several similar-looking units within the same enclosed terrain with two or more units sharing a common roof. There is usually some communal property (e.g. parking, garden, pool, etc.). A townhouse might be one storey (simplex), or more (duplex). Townhouses might also have separate dwelling units on top of each other (stacked units). Dwellings in a townhouse block usually have their own entrances and do not share a common entrance or foyer to their dwellings, as is the case with an apartment building.
Traditional dwelling	A dwelling made of clay, mud, reeds or other locally available materials. This general term includes huts, rondavels, etc. Such dwellings can be found as single units or in clusters. Rondavels constructed with concrete blocks or stone walls should not be considered traditional.
Wattle and daub	This is a traditional construction method that is used in rural areas. The house wall consists of wooden sticks or poles that are covered with mud, or a mixture of mud and clay.

4.6 Agriculture

Term	Definition
Grains	Harvested produce of cereals, pulses, oil crops and legumes.
Industrial crop	An industrial crop is a non-food crop and includes fibre crops such as: cotton, flax, linen, etc.; tobacco; oilseeds such as sunflowers; and beverages such as tea and coffee.
Livestock	All animals or birds kept or reared mainly for agricultural purposes, including cattle, sheep, goats, pigs, horses, poultry, rabbits, etc.

7.1 Demographics

Stayed Nights (Four_by_Four) (@33 1.)

D1	Has...stayed here (in this household) for at least four nights on average per week during the last four weeks? 1 = Yes 2 = No

Note to users

The instruction in this question is to end the interview with those who have answered 'No' (i.e. those who have not spent at least four nights per week during the last four weeks in this household). This question identifies household members within the selected dwelling.

Universe

Every person who normally resides in this household.

Final code list

- 1 = Yes

Gender (Sex)

(@34 1.)

D2	Is a male or a female? 1 = Male 2 = Female

Note to users

This question is asked for each household member to determine his or her gender. This question, and all consequent questions, are applicable only if there is a 'Yes' answer in the previous question, which determines whether a person is a household member or not. The survey officers are instructed not to assume the gender of the members of the households by just looking at people's names or physical appearances, but to make identification according to the respondent's answer to the question.

Universe

Every person who has stayed in the household in the selected dwelling unit at least four nights per week in the four weeks prior to the interview.

Final code list

1 = Male
 2 = Female

Age (age)

(@35 3.)

D3	What iss date of birth? Day of birth: Example of day 05 Month of birth: Example of month 11 Year of birth: Example of year 2007
D4	What iss age in completed years? Age in years

Note to users

This question is asked to find out the ages and dates of birth of the household members. Concerning the date of birth, the survey officers were requested to confirm the date from documentation if the respondent did not know the date of birth. The question starts with Day of birth, then the Month of birth and finally the Age in years. For Month of birth the equivalent is given in numbers, i.e. January is represented with 01, February with 02 and so forth. The Year of birth is given as a four-digit number, e.g. 1933 or 1996.

The instruction for Age in years is to write the years in whole numbers and not in words. Moreover, these years must be complete years; thus if a person is two years and six months, the instruction is to write the two completed years. For those children who are less than a year, the instruction is to write 00.

Universe

Every person who has stayed in the household in the selected dwelling unit at least four nights on average per week in the four weeks prior to the interview.

In this instance, survey officers are also instructed not to make any conclusions that may be influenced by their observation or using people's names during the interview. This question may also be very sensitive to some respondents, especially in this post-apartheid era, but it is really important to find out what the composition of the South African population is.

ECD5	How often does someone in the household read books/tell stories to?
	1 = Never
	2 = Sometimes
	3 = Often
	4 = Every day

Note to users

Reading and telling stories to children is one aspect of ECD. Reading loudly to the child from an early age promotes early childhood literacy. Reading or telling stories thus: promotes future interest in reading; increases the language skill of the child; develops understanding of the child's environment (e.g. about animals, colours, adventure and mystery stories); and helps the child settle down peacefully for the night if kept as part of a bedtime routine. Every day is daily, all the time without fail. Often is frequently or on many occasions but not all the time; parents or care givers may not stimulate the child all the time and the child may only respond when motivated/encouraged.

Sometimes is on a rare occasion. Never is if there is no involvement between the child and the care giver/parent and the child does not initiate the activities.

Sing (ecd_sing)

ECD6	How often does someone in the household sing to, or with? 1 = Never 2 = Sometimes 3 = Often 4 = Every day

Note to users

Singing to or with children is one aspect of ECD. Child development specialists claim that music assists in the development of the child's speech and increases the language skills of the child. Singing to the child from an early age does the following: promotes music appreciation; develops understanding of sounds, tone, beat and rhythm; encourages children's participation in activities; develops retention skills (builds memory); and helps with the emotional development of the child whichever way it is used from an early age, e.g. used to calm down the child, to sooth or put to sleep. Every day is daily, all the time without fail. Often is frequently or on many occasions but not all the time; parents or care givers may not stimulate the child all the time and the child may only respond when motivated/encouraged. Colour (ecd_colour)

(@68 1.)

ECD7	How often does someone in the household colour or draw with? 1 = Never 2 = Sometimes 3 = Often 4 = Every day

Note to users

Colouring/drawing promotes the development of fine motor skills in children, especially the use of their fingers to control pens and pencils. It helps children with learning about colours, and also develops creativity in children. Drawing is also used as a cognitive tool that can assist with the processing of information, evaluate the experience and emotional well-being in children. The question assesses whether children are assisted to colour or draw by someone in the household, and how often this activity occurs. Every day is daily, all the time without fail. Often is frequently or on many occasions but not all the time; parents or care givers may not stimulate the child all the time and the child may only respond when motivated/encouraged. ECD8	If points to or asks about an object, how often is he or she told what its name is and given an explaining of what the object does or is used for? 1 = Never 2 = Sometimes 3 = Often 4 = Every day

Note to users

Children start communicating from the time they are born by crying, facial expressions and smiling. Their communication skills develop rapidly during the first few years of their lives. As toddlers their means of communication develops further as they communicate by acting, pointing and trying to utter words such as mama, dada, etc. Responding to the child encourages and motivates the child to develop these skills. Every day is daily, all the time without fail. Often is frequently or on many occasions but not all the time; parents or care givers may not stimulate the child all the time and the child may only respond when motivated/encouraged. Count (ecd_count)

(@70 1.)

ECD9	How often does someone in the household name or count different things to or with? 1 = Never 2 = Sometimes 3 = Often 4 = Every day

Note to users

Naming and counting different things to or with a child helps with the following: introducing numbers as early as possible in the child's life prepares them for future education. Understanding the meaning of numbers takes practice and counting many things such as their toys, fingers, blocks, trees, etc. Adults can help by giving the child this practice regularly. The practice could include teaching the child to hold the correct number of fingers. The practice also includes nursery rhymes and children's songs to count with young children. Naming items with children assists with their language development. Lack of stimulation during the early childhood period could result in a child making slower progress or end up with poor communication skills. Research shows that by two years, children can typically use over 300 words and understand about 1 000 words. The best way to communicate with young children is to point and name things that they see. Every day is daily, all the time without fail. Often is frequently or on many occasions but not all the time; parents or care givers may not stimulate the child all the time and the child may only respond when motivated/encouraged. Sometimes is on a rare occasion. Never is if there is no involvement between the child and the care giver/parent and the child does not initiate the activities.

(@71 1.)

ECD10	How often does someone in the household play with toys/objects involving shapes/puzzles/building blocks with? 1 = Never 2 = Sometimes 3 = Often 4 = Every day

Note to users

Playing helps children to learn about their environment. An adult can guide them in the experience of learning about things by touching objects and toys such as fabric, plastic, paper, metal, etc., learn about the textures of materials (soft or rough), different sounds, smells and colours, playing with water, hide and seek, dancing and other movement games. The activities that involve putting the pieces of a puzzle together require concentration and teach children visual understanding of shapes. Playing with puzzles also teaches children problem solving. Every day is daily, all the time without fail. Often is frequently or on many occasions but not all the time; parents or care givers may not stimulate the child all the time and the child may only respond when motivated/encouraged. Sometimes is on a rare occasion. Never is if there is no involvement between the child and the care giver/parent and the child does not initiate the activities.
